

iPlayLaserforce Code Of Conduct

Introduction

iPlayLaserforce.com (IPL) is a website which displays game results for Laserforce players from around the world, including leader-boards listing players with the most games played as well as players with the most sites visited.

The IPL website is owned, operated and administered by Laserforce International Pty Ltd.

Data on IPL is tracked via “member numbers” – These are 3 part identifiers such as “11-22-3333”. A member number can be used when a player activates a Laserforce Battlesuit, and then that game result may be uploaded to IPL.

Data Integrity

Laserforce players from all around the world contribute to the data on IPL, and then look at their own results and compare them to how other players are performing. For this reason it is important that IPL presents a “level playing field” and that competition between players is on a fair and honest basis.

Rules

To help maintain the integrity of the data on IPL and the fairness of the leader-boards, the following rules should be followed:

Rule #1 – Players should use only a single member number

This ensures that all games played by that player are grouped together properly on IPL. There is no capability to merge games played on separate member numbers together.

If, for historical reasons, a player has multiple member numbers that they use, then they should inform ipl.integrity@laserforcetag.com of their identity and the member numbers that they are using. We will then take action to suppress all but one of these member numbers from the leader-boards. This prevents a single player from occupying multiple places on a leader-board, which would be unfair to other players.

Rule #2 – A member number must only be used by a single player

A member number must only ever be used by one physical person. Multiple players cannot use the same member number. Each player must have their own member number.

If you notice games on IPL for your member number, and you did not play those games yourself, you should notify ipl.integrity@laserforcetag.com immediately so the situation can be investigated and resolved.

Do not ask another player to play games using your member number. If another player offers to play games using your member number then you must advise them not to.

You must not play games using someone else's member number. Use only your own member number.

Rule #3 – When playing games, you must actively participate

When you activate Laserforce equipment with your member number, you must wear that equipment for the duration of the game and actively participate in gameplay.

It is not acceptable to activate equipment with your member number and then leave the equipment idle for any substantial part of the game.

Rule #4 – Member numbers cannot be “passed on” to other players

Member numbers are for a single physical person. Other players should get their own member number to track their own results.

Rule #5 – Games played must be reasonable in duration and spacing

Members must not attempt to artificially inflate the number of games they have played by playing many games that have an unusually short play-time.

Sanctions

The data on IPL is routinely checked to ensure its integrity. Where anomalies are detected and further investigation reveals likely rule breaches then Laserforce International may take action, including but not limited to:

- (a) Excluding individual game results,
- (b) Excluding multiple game results,
- (c) Excluding member numbers from various leader-boards, and
- (d) Excluding member numbers completely from IPL.

If you are affected by sanctions taken against a member number that you use then you may contact ipl.integrity@laserforcetag.com and the situation can be discussed further.
